

Berry Buddha

So much has died but the veil in front of Buddha has berries for next spring. In three billion years our galaxy will collide with another, in ten billion years our sun will explode, in 40 years I will be dead. How important is this cycle of seasons and return? It is only life and we kill every day, a fool's belief in the sustainability of what we know. Some day the spring will not return.